Every now and then in our lives we meet people, be it at work or in our daily lives and every once in a while we feel the need to share and spread our happiness with those around us. And right at that moment, a seed is planted in our head to see that event come through. Here, at C9 we do just that. We bring your dream to life by putting together and organising events as per your taste. And because of the different kinds of halls and facilities that we provide we are usually able to pull it off with much ease. Be it a small group of people or a larger group, C9 caters to all with efficiency.

The Property being located in an open area with very few inhabitants means that you celebrate and rejoice not just in the event that you partake but also simply the utter scenic beauty of the place. C9 was built keeping in mind the traditional styles of Kerala architecture and that of the modern day era, the best of both worlds, if you will. It was very important for us to give our clients luxury while not
